THE $20,000 appropriated by the House to defray the expenditures of the POTTER committee have been used to develop about that many ciphers. And this is Democratic THE Baltimore Gazette makes sorry work in its attempt to screen the architects and engineers of the Potter committee from the responsibility of suborning ANDERSON's perjury. He was groomed like a race-horse by them before he was placed upon the track. THE tidings from Connecticut are cheering. The Democrats attempted to coalesce with the soft-money men and the honestmoney men of both parties have determined to punish them for it, and the prospect now is that a disastrous defeat awaits the traf-

In the natural course of things there can-not be much that is Very Handsome about the Post-erior organ of the Democracy; but it should school it elf to submit to inevitable fate, or find consolation in the well-known fact that ugly monstrosities are short lived. It cannot better its condition by a constant exhibition of envy toward its more favored cotemporary.

THE veteran CALES CUSHING persists in declining any coparceny with the Butlerian mongrel political combination in Massachu-setts. He has been indirectly connected with BEN BUTLER professionally and otherwise for years back, and consequently un-derstands the meaning of a joint candidacy with him in the present campaign in that State; hence his declination.

WE desire again to cantion our Republican friends in Montgomery and other coun-ties in Maryland adjacent to the District of Columbia to beware of emigration into them from here and consequent fraudulent voting. Arrangements have been made for a heavy raid on election day into Maryland; and the worst of it is that the invaders will not remain there after they have corrupted the elective franchise.

Wit are in receipt of a communication complaining bitterly that the employees of the Government Printing-Office The are voters in the States soon to hold elections are not permitted to go home with vote without a loss of time. Our correspondent must thank those who have tied the Printing-Office up with restrictive laws relating to the accounting for the moneys approprinted for its business for this little priva-

THE Northern Democrats who would enjoy the patronage of a Democratic ad-ministration of the National Government

THE arrest of Democratic campaign man-agers in Texas for violating the election laws by interfering with the rights and eges of Republican voters has not attracted much attention for the reason that no very serious interests were at stake in those violations, the State being conceded to the Democracy without contradiction. But the violence which provoked those ar-rests will serve to illustrate the peculiar quiet and pon-partisan devotion of the Southern Democracy to the development of material interests in any State which is completely under their control.

ever made by this Past-crior-JIMANDERSO: nation, although a due regard for the eternal proprieties compels us to admit that we are much handsomer than the wild wild, Western creature who thus beslavers us with his ridiculous praise. If we were not we would apply for the exalted public position now held by BARNUM's tateoed man; and failing to get it, would cut our much-chagrined North American throat.

Now that George Francis Train has ndorsed Secretary Connau's political purse, it is in order that all the modern Reformers shall rise up and call him, blessed. But it appears that TRAIN has been deceived by the current publications of the proferred such an endorsement. As the is his effort, as produced in his own newspaper matter now stands Mr. Gornam is necused of that which he has not done, and approved for the same kind of thing. In this dilemma, however, he is able to remark that he once described inflation as a seedy ramp, and contraction as a well-dressed pickpocket.

THE envy of the valgar is one of the penalties of respectability. The straightforward, upright man is ever subjected to the disparaging endeavors of crooked sneaks. Modesty would prevent us from making a local or personal application of these tru-isms; but our deep regard for the sanctity of current history compels us to add that if the editor of the Past-crior were not in-spired by motives of envious jealousy he would not devote so much space in the col-umns of that un-valuable journal to laudations of the personal beauty which characterizes the lont-rasemble of our editorial self. He really, strange as it may seem, means everything he says in this regard; really and truly means it; but then he is a very poor judge of such things. Alas! alas!! for the mental delusions of a St. Louis bood-

THE Post-erior and its echo, the Balti-nore Gazette, have descended to a plane of controversy suited to their own tastes, no doubt, and hence we propose to allow them to enjoy it without much interference from THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN beyond an occasional reminder by the way of stirring up their unclean minds to activity. The read-ers of the Post-erior and the Gazette may be deeply interested in the age and personal attractions of the editor of THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, over neither of which he has any control; but its readers, we feel as-sured prefer the discussion of other topics of a wider public interest and which are more consistent with the ends of newspaper ournalism. For that reason we do not prone either to defend or justify the years that have come to us or the rare personal charms that our assailants have discovered and seem to dwell upon with uncommon delight. While we do not care to interfere with their childish diversion, we must in-dulge the impocent remark that the present performances of this brace of journals. which are "tarred with the same stick," are very much like that of the puppy who pursites his own tall.

THE PINANCIAL ASPECT.

The statements made by the Treasury Department of the imports and exports of this country during nine months of the years 1877 and 1878, ending on the 30th of September of each year, which appeared in THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN of yesterday morning, make a better showing for the financial and general business prospects of the country than has been made in a long series of years, it over.
